Summary

My career started as a sound assistant with my father at the age of 20. After graduating university in Journalism and having trouble finding a job, I continued assisting in sound until I was offered a junior sound engineer role on 2 big shows; Desert Force & Eish Safari. The experience changed the trajectory of my career and peaked my interest in production, especially sound design.

I set out to learn everything I could about production. I volunteered with the now-closed Future TV where I learned and practiced video editing; this soon turned into a full-time job and opened doors to more video editing opportunities with MBC. In parallel, I was offered a script writer and subtitle editor position with Sadeem; I took the opportunity to learn more about production.

Today I still work with MBC and Sadeem, and teach video editing at CIS College.
