PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am web developer with proven technical skills and leadership abilities, and I can learn anything. I have two college degrees and I worked hard to put myself through college. I've built over 10 different applications and projects using technologies such as Node, React, Python/Flask, JavaScript/jQuery, and others. I've built multiple websites and have always loved learning new technologies. I'm currently looking for a role as a web developer.

- I've built 2 front-end web applications in React that handle AJAX requests, and include features such as infinite scrolling, session storage, user authorization, responsive design, Firebase, and Redux/Redux Sagas, session persistence, etc.
- I built a python web analytics application for DMscore.com that automated a data entry process that shaved off 25 labor hours a week (I used Flask).
