

Andrew Bou Malham

Student

In the past couple of years I have achieved experience in volunteering, retail and business administration specifically. Even though some of my experience may not be directly related to the following position, however I have grasped many skills in the workplace that I can integrate, in addition to learning the concept of "going the extra mile" in volunteering, which I can also apply in the respective position. Finally, achieving my bachelor's degree and pursuing my master's degree has granted me the knowledge and skills required in the workplace, in addition to my hunger for learning. I am looking forward to learn, grow and apply the skills and knowledge that I have achieved in this position.
