PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a Computer Science graduate from the Lebanese International University and currently enrolled in the MS in Computer Science program at the Lebanese American University with great interest in Data Science. I have sufficient knowledge in data processing, and data visualization. I am experienced with both Python and JavaScript. Moreover, I have strong knowledge in Web Development both in front-end and back-end development. I have done several projects using a variety of languages/frameworks like HTML, CSS, JavaScript, PHP, MySQL, Laravel and Node JS. In addition, I was the president of the Computer Science Club for a year and organized events and seminars of interest for computer science students. Furthermore, I am a curious individual who is always hungry for knowledge and being a fast learner helps me out tremendously. I am seeking an internship in Remote Engineering/Computer Science in your firm to be able to learn and improve my skills as a data scientist and launch myself into the workplace.
