

BIOGRAPHY

My name is Julien Abou Fadel. I am 22 years old. I have completed all my studies at society of Jesus. I have a high school diploma from Jamhour High School where I graduated from. I am currently a new student in University Saint Joseph hoping to get a degree in applied computer science.

EXPERIENCE IN COMPUTER SCIENCE

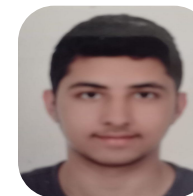

My computer science career started at 14 years old when I was getting introduced to programming and doing websites. My computer science experience includes hosting and publishing a website on the internet. I have also started small applications on Python. After high school, I have joined the American University of Beirut where I did an application using Java which registers my courses online automatically for me. I also have used C++, Java and Python to program small applications. I am now learning applied computer science at Saint Joseph University.
