

KARIM BEKDASH

Beirut, Lebanon 🏠
+961 71 268 768 📞
karim.bekdash@lau.edu 📧

OVERVIEW

Technologically adept Senior Electrical and Computer Engineering student proficient in Java and Python with excellent abilities in solving multi-faceted problems. Seeking to develop my communication and teamwork skills to grow in the role of an information and technology specialist at PricewaterhouseCoopers.

EDUCATION

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING | LEBANESE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

SEP 18 – PRESENT

Senior Electrical Engineering Undergraduate Student

Expected Graduation Date: December 2023

- Designed a website and programmed a database for a food catering service as part of a course project (front-end and back-end)
- Earned a certificate of completion for a 5-course Python program including databases, APIs, and data structures
- Led efforts on a Java-focused project that entails encrypting users' personal information
- Developed web design skills through back-end coding to enhance user experience across devices (laptops, phones, and tablets)
- Built an electric circuit using transistors, resistors, a DC generator, capacitors, and a flickering LED bulb which served as a clock signal

FRENCH BACCALAUREATE | INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE

SEP 08 – JUN 18

- Science Baccalaureate – Specialty in Mathematics
- Member of the football team
- Elected student class representative

SKILLS

- Coding languages: Java, JavaScript, Python
- Basic database administration skills
- Basic web design skills
- Microsoft Office Suite proficient
- Excellent problem-solving skills
- Excellent communication skills
- Reliable team member & leader
- Attentive to detail
- Fluent in English, French and Arabic

ACTIVITIES

- Served as Manager of Volunteers at NGO Basecamp Beirut post August 4th explosion. (AUG 20- DEC 20)
- Managed and set up a water booth at the Beirut Marathon in 2016, handed out water bottles to runners and collected empty bottles for recycling
- Hobbies: skiing, weightlifting, playing guitar