OBJECTIVE

I am currently a medical laboratory sciences student residing in Lebanon. I'm a hard working student and a social person. I am always interested in expanding my knowledge and improving myself with time. It's also good to note that I am able to quickly adapt to change and adjust to any new environment. I'm a serious and responsible person when it comes to team work. I'm also good on my own as I can get a lot of quality work done in short periods of time.
