ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Library Management System with JavaFx

12/2023 until 2/2024

- Developed a library management system in JavaFX with separate FXML files for login, student, and admin interfaces.
- Implemented features for students to view, borrow, and save books, as well as track their borrowed or saved books.
- Enabled admins to add, delete, and update books, along with managing borrowed books. Built using design builders for efficient development and improved user experience.

University System Application with Java

5/2023 until 7/2023

- Developed a user-friendly interface with JFrame, enabling student addition, grade recording, and data manipulation.
- Implemented features including student pass identification, and a statistics page for performance and enrollment visualization.
- Ensured seamless collaboration within a four-member team, integrating individual contributions effectively.

Private System for an Educational Research Center

1/2023 until 4/2023

- Conception and creation of a private management system for an educational research center.
- Collaborated with three colleagues, supervised by the PHP course professor.
- Utilized PHP, phpMyAdmin, and MySQL to retrieve and visualize data, while also addressing errors in other groups' database designs
