SUMMARY

Hey there! I'm Hussein Hazime, a 20-year-old third-year computer science student at the Islamic University of Lebanon (IUL). Currently, I'm rocking the tech scene as a freelance full-stack developer with a solid year of hands-on experience. You'll often find me immersed in the world of JavaScript, Python, and C++. I've been on quite the journey, collaborating on diverse projects—crafting fully functional and responsive websites and diving into the realms of Node.js, Next.js, and Tailwind CSS.

I'm passionate about staying on top of the latest industry trends and tech advancements. My goal is to optimize user experiences and contribute meaningfully to the ever-evolving field of web development. Let's code something awesome together!
